Important notice: End of support for PyroMark® Q96 ID platform by August 31, 2025

Dear valued customer,

To help you plan with clarity and confidence, we're informing you that support and maintenance for the previously discontinued PyroMark Q96 ID platform will officially end on August 31, 2025.

With that, the following PyroMark Q96 consumables will be discontinued from production by August 31, 2025. However, consumables already in stock – required to run Pyrosequencing analyses on existing PyroMark Q96 ID platforms – will remain available while supplies last.

We understand this may impact your ongoing operations, and we're here to support you through the transition. If you're considering alternative solutions, we recommend exploring the PyroMark Q48 Autoprep system, designed to meet evolving needs, at www.qiagen.com//PyroMark-Q48-Autoprep.

You can also view our full range of PyroMark products here: www.qiagen.com/pyrosequencing-products.

If you have any questions about this discontinuation or would like to assess tailored solutions for your lab, please reach out to our Technical Support team or your local sales representative. We're committed to helping you find the best path forward.

Thank you for your continued trust in our Sample to Insight® solutions.

Best regards,

Your QIAGEN Team
